Red Carpet Out For Returning Air Guards

800 Ohioans Start For Home after Tour Of Duty in France

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — An Air Force plane carrying the first 55 airmen and officers of the main body of about 800 Ohio Air National Guardsmen home from active duty in Etain, France, touched down today at Lockbourne Air Base near here.

Among the gifts the men received besides seeing families and loved ones for the first time since last October was a three-day pass.

From now on, a daily plane load of about 55 guardsmen will arrive until the entire group is returned Aug. 11.

Although returned to Ohio, the unit still will be on active duty until Aug. 20. Most of the men will live at home and report to Lockbourne daily.

Most of the men are members of the 121st Tactical Fighter Wing activated last October. When the wing headquarters and its 16th Squadron were shipped to France in November, the unit designation was changed to 7121st to avoid confusion with the section which remained on active duty at its bases around Ohio.

The entire wing is scheduled to be released from active duty Aug. 26.

The 8½ months has been, as one airman said, "a long summer camp."

The guardsmen, who normally would serve only two weeks of full time during the summer, suddenly found themselves in uniform Oct. 1. President Kennedy said they would be on active duty for a year.

The crisis last fall over Berlin was one of the major reasons for the nationwide activation of Army and Air Force Reserve and National Guard units. During their stay at Etain in Northeast France, most of the Ohioans have been taken to Berlin to see the wall which helped to bring them there.

During their stay, the units went through hundreds of alerts, exercises and maneuvers to keep a sharp edge should they be needed.

Officers and enlisted men worked with regular U.S. Army units also housed at the base and had their share of fox-hole digging and perimeter defensive measures.

Lt. Col. Paul E. Hoover, who assumed command of the wing after it was in France, summed up the entire operation, which the Air Force refers to as "Operation Stairstep," in a recent statement to the men of the 7121st:

"The full effect of this mission on the world situation may never be known. But if it has created a second look by those responsible for major decisions and averted a war, then you men have accomplished something through your military service that many of our leaders in the past have been unable to achieve."

Findlay Boy Lauded for Avoiding Crash

FINDLAY, Ohio (AP) — Twelve-year-old Phillip Strausbaugh was riding in the front seat of the family car last Saturday when the driver, his mother, suffered a heart attack.

The quick-thinking boy grabbed the steering wheel from his unconscious mother, Dolores Strausbaugh, 35, steered it off Ohio 113 and up onto a sidewalk, narrowly missing a head-on collision with other cars.

He managed to avoid trees and other obstacles and finally brought the car to a halt 60 feet from busy U.S. 25 just outside of near-by Van Buren.

Mrs. Strausbaugh was rushed to Blanchard Valley Hospital here and she was responding nicely to treatment, hospital officials said.

The highway patrol commended Phillip, saying his quick action saved them both from possible death.

But death was not to be averted.

Mrs. Strausbaugh suffered another heart attack in the hospital Thursday and died.

JFK Gets Measure To Help Relievers Be Self-Sustaining

WASHINGTON (AP) — An administration bill aimed at encouraging families on the relief rolls to make themselves self-sustaining finally has reached President Kennedy's desk.

The Senate sent it to the White House Thursday night by voice vote after brief debate. The House had approved the measure earlier in the day 357 to 34.

The final $300-million version gives the President most of what he wanted in the way of revised welfare laws.

But the legislators added a congressional favorite of the last decade—an increase in federal matching funds available for monthly relief checks.

When the bill reached the Senate floor late last month the administration decided to try to hitch onto it the President's social security health care plan for the aged. This failed Tuesday on a 52-48 vote.

Considering only the welfare law changes, Abraham Ribicoff hailed the measure as the most important of his 18 months as secretary of welfare.

The bill is of high importance to a number of states because it extends retroactively to July 1 a program of federal funds for payments to unemployed parents of dependent children. This means they will be reimbursed for expenditures made under this program so far this month.

Other key provisions will:

—Effective Oct. 1, increase by $4 a month per recipient federal matching funds for the needy aged, blind and disabled programs.

—Raise from 50 to 75 per cent the federal share of the cost of training programs aimed at rehabilitation of relief recipients.

—Authorize states to set up work and training programs for able-bodied relief recipients.

—Make available federal aid for day care of children of working mothers.

—Allow the states to disregard the first $10 earned by an old age assistance recipient, plus half of the next $40, in figuring his monthly relief payment.

British Censor Deletes Jibes At Kennedy

LONDON (AP) — Britain's chief censor has ordered five sketches about President Kennedy and his family cut from an American revue opening here next week.

But Thursday night the cast of "The Premise" reported they had appealed to Kennedy and the White House had cabled it had no objection to the sketches.

The Lord Chamberlain, the Earl of Scarborough, banned the sketches under a regulation that forbids portrayal of a head of state on the London stage.

A sixth sketch about God also was ordered cut.

"The revue ran successfully on New York with all the six sketches intact," author Theodore Fricker said. "I can't understand why references to the President should be allowed in his own country but not here."

"The Premise" is scheduled to open at the Comedy Theater July 26.

The Kennedy sketches include one about the "President's Dynasty" and another showing little daughter Caroline as the brains behind the American government.

Said leading lady Joan Darling: "I hope the Lord Chamberlain will realize that whatever we did must be in good taste if the Kennedys approve. I guess the British law should approve good taste. The present situation is ridiculous."

Congress Pleased, Unexcited With Deficit below Estimate

WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress appeared pleased today but hardly excited at word that the government wound up its 1962 bookkeeping year with a budget deficit $700 million less than estimated in January. The final red ink figure was $6.3 billion.

None of the House members who commented on the development thought the moderately pleasant fiscal news would have much influence on any decision for an income tax cut now or later.

Some thought, however, that even a modest reduction in the deficit would calm the nervousness of foreign holders of U.S. dollars and therefore help the balance of payments deficit.

Announcing the fiscal 1962 deficit, the Treasury said Thursday both income and spending were overestimated in January, when a $7-billion deficit was projected. Spending on defense, space, foreign and national security programs was down $248 million and other government agencies spent $1.1 billion less than anticipated.

But corporate income and other business-linked revenues were down also, more than offsetting a rise in personal income tax yield.

Charles A. Halleck of Indiana, House Republican leader, expressed the reaction of many colleagues when he shrugged off the improvement in the deficit figure as too small to make any difference in anyone's plans.

Some high-placed Democrats privately agreed. One, who would not be quoted, said the difference is within the margin of error with which all treasury projections should be treated. But he added: "Anyway, I'm glad it wasn't off in the other direction."

The deficit is the largest in peacetime except for two years—1959 when the government was $12.4 billion in the red and 1953 when a $9.4 billion deficit reflected the peak spending of the Korean fighting.

Woman Injured In 2-Car Crash

Mrs. Esther Elliott's Condition Listed 'Poor'

A 45-year-old Circleville woman was critically injured shortly after 8 a.m. today in a two-car crash south of Circleville on Route 23 at the intersection of DuPont Road.

Mrs. Esther L. Elliott, 972 Circle Drive, was reported in "poor" condition at noon today by University Hospital officials. Mrs. Elliott suffered severe head injuries and a possible skull fracture as a result of the accident.

She received emergency aid at Berger Hospital and was transferred to the Columbus hospital.

Driver of the second auto, Chester L. Ptazsek, 41, Columbus, sustained a laceration of the forehead. He was referred to a doctor.

According to Deputy Sheriff Dixie Watters, Mrs. Elliott was thrown from her auto from the impact of the collision.

MRS. Elliott attempted to cross the southbound lane of Route 23 and Ptazsek, headed south on Route 23, struck the vehicle broadside. He applied his auto brakes and skidded approximately 71 feet before the vehicles collided.

Both autos were extensively damaged, Deputy Watters added.

Area Water Shutoff Due

'Red Water' Warning Noted by Utility Head

At least one water shutoff is due in Circleville, probably Monday, due to construction work now in progress in the city.

Ervin Leist, public utilities director, said line installation along Northridge Road will require a shutoff for homes east of Mulberry Road. The line closing tentatively is scheduled for Monday.

Leist also warned that intermittent "red water" problems will crop up around the city during the next 30 days while construction is under way. He urged housewives to be alert for the rusty water, especially at laundry time.

The utilities director reminded that the waterworks improvement project here will cause some inconveniences during construction phases, but noted that rapid progress is being made on the work and planning program. Each home owner affected by the scheduled shutoff will be notified ahead of time.

ONLY TWO contracts remain to be let for the improvement project — one for footers for the new elevated storage tank to be located in the northeastern section of the city and the other for the new water plant at the Island Road area. Leist said bids for the tank footer job are to be received by August 8.

The final contract will be for general construction of the plant. Plans for the new building are now complete and it is hoped the job will be under contract by Sept. 1.

Compromise Offered in Algeria Fuss

ALGIERS (AP) — The leaders of Algeria's guerrilla fighters were reported today to have worked out a proposed compromise in the bitter quarrel dividing the new nation.

There was no official word of what the compromise provided. But one usually well-informed source said the guerrilla army's Council of Wilayas (zones) would propose that:

1. The government would be headed by a six-man political bureau of the National Liberation Front, the FLN, divided equally between the rival factions of moderate Premier Ben Youssef Ben Khedda and radical Deputy Premier Ahmed Ben Bella.

2. Ben Bella would head the radicals on the Politburo, but Ben Khedda would be shelved. The moderate members would be Deputy Premier Belkacem Krim and Mohammed Boudiaf and Interior Minister Lakhdar Ben Tobbal.

3. The Politburo would lead the FLN as a political party into the constituent Assembly elections Aug. 12, and the Assembly probably would continue it in charge of the government.

The FLN faces no substantial opposition in the elections and probably will win an overwhelming majority of the Assembly's 196 seats.

The reported compromise proposal was worked out at a meeting of the guerrilla leaders near Meda, in the mountains southeast of Algiers.

Aerospace Unions To Vote on Pact

LOS ANGELES (AP) — Spokesmen for two unions say they will hold mass meetings Saturday and Sunday to vote on contract proposals by three major aerospace companies.

A nationwide strike at plants and missile bases is set Monday. Negotiators for the United Aerospace Workers and the International Association of Machinists already have disapproved the offers. But they were to be submitted to the employees for a final determination.

The three firms — Lockheed, North American and General Dynamics — described the contract proposals Thursday as equal or better than a tentative agreement reached earlier this week at Douglas Aircraft.

Fair Opener Near; Booklets Completed

PREPPING FOR JULY 30 — Secretary-Manager William Cook adds some final touches in preparation for the annual Pickaway County Fair which opens July 30 and extends through Aug. 4. Extensive painting of various buildings and surfacing work in the Midway area will give the Fair a new look this year. (Staff Photo)

Premium books for the 1962 Pickaway County Fair have been completed and are now ready for distribution at the Fairgrounds and various city business establishments.

The books offer a written outline of the annual agricultural extravaganza, set to open July 30 and extend through Aug. 4. The show will open officially at 6 p. m. Monday, meaning five days and six nights of gay entertainment.

All youngsters under 18 will be admitted free. Admission will be 50 cents for those over 18. Another feature this year will be free parking in the large lot adjacent to the Fairgrounds.

ACCORDING to William L. Cook Fair secretary-manager, several new events are scheduled. Tentatively on the activity roster

Army To Fire Rockets over Southwest

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has decided to test fire unguided rockets over sparsely populated areas of the Southwest because the missiles have outgrown the White Sands testing range in New Mexico.

The test firings will begin in the middle of 1963. An Army announcement Thursday said the missiles will carry no explosives in their dummy warheads.

The White Sands test area has a maximum length of 100 miles, the Army said, and that doesn't permit full-scale tests of its long-range rocket weapons.

Rockets would be fired from launching sites outside the test reservation, with White Sands as the target. On the way, the missiles would travel over areas with an average population of 1.5 people per square mile, the Army said.

Instrument sites are planned along the missile routes so that the test flights can be monitored and the rockets destroyed in the air if anything goes wrong.

Launch sites are being surveyed in the Blanding, Utah, area; near Ft. Wingate, N.M.; and around Datil, N.M.

Blanding is about 300 miles from White Sands, Ft. Wingate about 200. These sites would be used for launchings of the Pershing, the Army's longest-range tactical missile, which can cover about 300 miles.

Datil, about 70 miles from White Sands, would be used for test shots of the 75-mile Sergeant missile.

No Successor Hinted by JFK

General Seeks To Quit While Tensions at Ebb

WASHINGTON (AP) — President Kennedy accepted today the resignation of Gen. Lauris Norstad as supreme Allied commander in Europe and chief of NATO forces.

The White House had nothing to say immediately as to a successor.

Reports were circulating that Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the U.S. Joint Chiefs of Staff, might replace Norstad. But there also was talk of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, now presidential military adviser.

Norstad has held the Allied position with headquarters in Paris since 1956. He is known as a strong advocate of increasing unity among the Western European Allies and between them and the United States.

Word that the general has submitted his resignation came first from the newspaper Le Monde in Paris.

Norstad said in a letter to Kennedy:

"We live in a time of continuing crisis, but for the moment, at least, there is no unusual pressure on my office. I request therefore that I be relieved of my assignment . . . on or about 1 Nov. 1962."

The chief executive replied in a "Dear Larry" letter, voicing deep regret at Norstad's decision to step out of uniform after 36 years and also lavishing high praise on a man he said has had a military assignment of unparalleled importance to the defense of the free world.

Kennedy said he knows of no one who has been better able to bear the burdens and that Norstad has become "a living symbol of the United States commitment to the Alliance and of the strength of the Alliance itself."

Kennedy said he felt "particularly fortunate that you were in command last summer when the situation in Berlin reached crisis proportions."

"Your judgment, your perceptiveness and your vigorous approach to our common problems have been of tremendous value to me," Kennedy said.

Norstad was at the White House last Monday to confer with the President and talked over with (Continued on Page 2)

Negroes Plan More Mass Racial Shows

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — More mass demonstrations were set today against racial barriers as Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. hurried back to this south Georgia city to help erect a secret protest move of major proportions.

King, cancelling a Connecticut speaking engagement, was scheduled to arrive in mid-afternoon from Washington where he spoke to the National Press club Thursday.

Negro leaders who asked not to be identified said King would unveil plans for the "crescendo" of the weeklong series of integration efforts at a church meeting tonight. The climax was expected to come Saturday or Sunday.

The mushrooming civil rights movement in this city of 58,000 with 40 per cent Negroes, aimed at worldwide attention with Negro leaders reporting efforts to bring the fight before the United Nations. An official of the Albany movement also was reported preparing to hold a news conference in London early next week. There were no other details.

Celebrezze Appointment Is Confirmed by Senate

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Senate today confirmed President Kennedy's nomination of Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze of Cleveland to be secretary of welfare.

Celebrezze, 51, a Democrat, succeeds Abraham A. Ribicoff, who resigned last week to run for the Senate from Connecticut. This is the first change in the Kennedy Cabinet.

The reported compromise proposal was worked out at a meeting of the guerrilla leaders near Meda, in the mountains southeast of Algiers.

Aerospace Unions To Vote on Pact

LOS ANGELES (AP)—Spokesmen for two unions say they will hold mass meetings Saturday and Sunday to vote on contract proposals by three major aerospace companies.

A nationwide strike at plants and missile bases is set Monday. Negotiators for the United Aerospace Workers and the International Association of Machinists already have disapproved the offers. But they were to be submitted to the employees for a final determination.

The three firms — Lockheed, North American and General Dynamics — described the contract proposals Thursday as equal or better than a tentative agreement reached earlier this week at Douglas Aircraft.

Fair Opener Near; Booklets Completed

PREPPING FOR JULY 30 — Secretary-Manager William Cook adds some final touches in preparation for the annual Pickaway County Fair which opens July 30 and extends through Aug. 4. Extensive painting of various buildings and surfacing work in the Midway area will give the Fair a new look this year. (Staff Photo)

Premium books for the 1962 Pickaway County Fair have been completed and are now ready for distribution at the Fairgrounds and various city business establishments.

The books offer a written outline of the annual agricultural extravaganza, set to open July 30 and extend through Aug. 4. The show will open officially at 6 p. m. Monday, meaning five days and six nights of gay entertainment.

All youngsters under 18 will be admitted free. Admission will be 50 cents for those over 18.

Another feature this year will be free parking in the large lot adjacent to the Fairgrounds.

ACCORDING to William L. Cook Fair secretary-manager, several new events are scheduled. Tentatively on the activity roster

Army To Fire Rockets over Southwest

WASHINGTON (AP) — The Army has decided to test fire unguided rockets over sparsely populated areas of the Southwest because the missiles have outgrown the White Sands testing range in New Mexico.

The test firings will begin in the middle of 1963. An Army announcement Thursday said the missiles will carry no explosives in their dummy warheads.

The White Sands test area has a maximum length of 100 miles, the Army said, and that doesn't permit full-scale tests of its long-range rocket weapons.

Rockets would be fired from launching sites outside the test reservation, with White Sands as the target. On the way, the missiles would travel over areas with an average population of 1.5 people per square mile, the Army said.

Instrument sites are planned along the missile routes so that the test flights can be monitored and the rockets destroyed in the air if anything goes wrong.

Launch sites are being surveyed in the Blanding, Utah, area; near Ft. Wingate, N.M.; and around Datil, N.M.

Blanding is about 300 miles from White Sands, Ft. Wingate about 200. These sites would be used for launchings of the Pershing, the Army's longest-range tactical missile, which can cover about 300 miles.

Datil, about 70 miles from White Sands, would be used for test shots of the 75-mile Sergeant missile.

No Successor Hinted by JFK

General Seeks To Quit While Tensions at Ebb

WASHINGTON (AP)—President Kennedy accepted today the resignation of Gen. Lauris Norstad as supreme Allied commander in Europe and chief of NATO forces.

The White House had nothing to say immediately as to a successor.

Reports were circulating that Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, chairman of the U.S. Joint chiefs of staff, might replace Norstad. But there also was talk of Gen. Maxwell D. Taylor, now presidential military adviser.

Norstad has held the Allied position with headquarters in Paris since 1956. He is known as a strong advocate of increasing unity among the Western European Allies and between them and the United States.

Word that the general has submitted his resignation came first from the newspaper Le Monde in Paris.

Norstad said in a letter to Kennedy:

"We live in a time of continuing crisis, but for the moment, at least, there is no unusual pressure on my office. I request therefore that I be relieved of my assignment . . . on or about 1 Nov. 1962."

The chief executive replied in a "Dear Larry" letter, voicing deep regret at Norstad's decision to step out of uniform after 36 years and also lavishing high praise on a man he said has had a military assignment of unparalleled importance to the defense of the free world.

Kennedy said he knows of no one who has been better able to bear the burdens and that Norstad has become "a living symbol of the United States commitment to the Alliance and of the strength of the Alliance itself."

Kennedy said he felt "particularly fortunate that you were in command last summer when the situation in Berlin reached crisis proportions."

"Your judgment, your perceptiveness and your vigorous approach to our common problems have been of tremendous value to me," Kennedy said.

Norstad was at the White House last Monday to confer with the President and talked over with

Negroes Plan More Mass Racial Shows

ALBANY, Ga. (AP) — More mass demonstrations were set today against racial barriers as Dr. Martin Luther King Jr. hurried back to his south Georgia city to help erect a secret protest move of major proportions.

King, cancelling a Connecticut speaking engagement, was scheduled to arrive in mid-afternoon from Washington where he spoke to the National Press club Thursday.

Negro leaders who asked not to be identified said King would unveil plans for the "crescendo" of the weeklong series of integration efforts at a church meeting tonight. The climax was expected to come Saturday or Sunday.

The mushrooming civil rights movement in this city of 58,000 with 40 per cent Negroes, aimed at worldwide attention with Negro leaders reporting efforts to bring the fight before the United Nations. An official of the Albany movement also was reported preparing to hold a news conference in London early next week. There were no other details.

Celebrezze Appointment Is Confirmed by Senate

WASHINGTON (AP)—The Senate today confirmed President Kennedy's nomination of Mayor Anthony J. Celebrezze of Cleveland to be secretary of welfare.

Celebrezze, 51, a Democrat, succeeds Abraham A. Ribicoff, who resigned last week to run for the Senate from Connecticut. This is the first change in the Kennedy Cabinet.

14 Nations Ready To Sign Long-Awaited Laos Treaty

GENEVA (AP)—Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei A. Gromyko said today that the Soviet Union regards the Laos treaty as a guarantee of peace in Southeast Asia "and not only in that region."

Looking a bit tired, Gromyko landed here two hours ahead of U.S. Secretary of State Dean Rusk to take part in the 14-nation treaty signing and another round of big power talks on Berlin and disarmament.

He said the Laos accord would definitely establish the jungle kingdom as a "united, independent and neutral nation."

A large gathering of diplomats, including U.S. Ambassador W. Averell Harriman, were on hand at the airport for Gromyko's arrival.

Peering through horn-rimmed glasses at the prepared statement, Gromyko said the Laos agreement "proves that if the interested states really want to understand each other on questions which divide them they can accomplish it."

Gromyko noted a series of setbacks which had kept the Laotian pot boiling over the past 14 months. He said most of the obstacles were "artificial and put up by forces which cared little for the national interest of the Laotian people."

"All that is past now, however," Gromyko concluded.

Two Deputies Honored for Solving Cases

Walton Spangler, Pickaway County Sheriff, has found out that law enforcement is not a completely thankless job.

The Department has received awards from the Standard Oil Company of Ohio for the department's work in the arrest and conviction of Alva Ray Bailey, who robbed the McBee service station on Route 316 last January, and for the arrest of Frank Litchfield, who robbed the Conley service station on the Harrisburg Pike in November of 1961.

Deputy sheriffs William Pontious and Dixie Waters came in for special recognition for their parts in the two arrests.

Carl Willoughby, who identified the car used by Bailey, and Lloyd White, a night watchman who apprehended Litchfield, received cash rewards from the Standard Oil Company. Willoughby received $150 and White $125.

The Sheriff's department received a total of $275 to be used for the purchase of equipment for the department.

Deputies Pontious and Waters were given desk plaques.

Kennedy then his desire to retire.

In his letter to Kennedy confirming this desire, Norstad said that one of the foremost reasons for his decision "is the simple fact that after 12 years with NATO, six of which I have served as supreme Allied commander Europe, I have stayed in one field of activity and in one position some what longer than is the normal practice in the military services."

The Norstad request for retirement was a formal bid to be relieved as commander in chief of the U.S. European command on or about Nov. 1. Along with this will go his release from the position of supreme Allied commander in Europe as a matter of course.

Norstad said he had informed the secretary-general of the NATO Council of his decision to retire, and he assumed steps would be taken by the council and the U.S. government to release him from the position of supreme Allied commander at the beginning of November.

The American and Russian diplomatic chiefs appeared set for some blunt face-to-face exchanges on other cold war issues.

The United States said again today it may modify its position on nuclear test ban controls if such a change is found to be justified by new scientific findings.

U.S. Ambassador Arthur H. Dean made the statement in the American-British-Soviet test ban subcommittee of the 17-nation disarmament talks.

Referring to American tests which hold out hope of greatly improved methods of detecting distant atomic blasts, Dean told Soviet Deputy Foreign Minister Valerian Zorin:

"The United States is now evaluating and seeking further substantiation of these findings and will make in the near future modifications in its present position as they seem possible."

Dean had announced earlier outside the conference that the United States might drop its insistence on internationally staffed seismic detection stations on Soviet territory. This was in a statement he made Saturday in returning for resumption of the conference.

He had added the West would continue to demand that a test ban treaty provide for international inspection on the site of suspicious events in all countries, including Russia.

Even before this offer was raised inside the disarmament talks Zorin flatly rejected it during a news conference a few days

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The obituaries for William Faulkner said little or nothing about his writing for films, a phase of his career of which he was not particularly proud.

Yet the Nobel Prize winner spent a lot of time in the Hollywood studios, largely because of director Howard Hawks. They worked well together, perhaps because both were free-wheeling mavericks with scant regard for the system.

Hawks reminisced in his Paramount office this week about his long association with Faulkner.

"We first got together in 1932 or 1933, when I read some of his work. I was much impressed and I showed his work to Ben Hecht and Charlie MacArthur. They and Alexander Woolcott and others around New York started talking about him, so I think I had a part in his discovery as a writer."

"I bought a book of his and asked him to come out to the Coast to write it as a movie. He came into my office, very quiet, and I told him my name. 'Yes, I've read it on a check,' he replied."

"He didn't say anything, so I started talking. I must have talked for 40 minutes, outlining the way I saw the screen play. Still he didn't say anything and I finally asked him what he thought. He said it was okay, and he would be back in five days."

"By this time I was getting mad and I said, 'Do you need five days to think about it?' He said, 'Five days to write it. Then I felt better and asked if he wanted a drink before he went. He said yes, he'd like a drink.'"

Apparently one drink led to another—and another. The two became fast friends and, Hawks recalled.

"The next morning I woke up at my house and I saw him fish a cigar butt out of a glass of mint julep. He drained the glass and then he went to work."

Faulkner finished the script in five days. Hawks took it to MGM mastermind Irving Thalberg, who pronounced it great and suggested it should be shot as is. But then Joan Crawford became available and she was assigned to the film, even though there wasn't a woman's part in it.

Faulkner wrote in the Crawford part in a few days, and it was shot as "Today We Live."

Faulkner's other credits with Hawks include "Road to Glory," in 1936, two postwar Bogart-Bacall films, "To Have and Have Not" and "The Big Sleep," and "The Land of the Pharaohs" in 1955.

Faulkner didn't mingle with the Hollywood crowd, but he did like to go hunting and fishing with Hawks and his cronies. One of them was Clark Gable.

Gable was impressed with Faulkner's knowledge of books and once on a dove-hunting trip to the Imperial Valley asked him who were the five best living writers.

"Ernest Hemingway, Willa Cather, Thomas Mann, John Dos Passos and myself," Faulkner replied.

"Oh, do you write for a living?" Gable asked.

Hawks said he believes Faulkner's reply was entirely innocent: "Yes. And what do you do?"

Voluntary Wage Boost Irks Unionist

CLEVELAND (AP) — The head of one of the disputing unions at the Gabriel Co. plant says a voluntary wage increase given by the firm and a company instituted grievance procedure will "cause nothing but confusion and chaos."

The criticism was made Thursday night by Joseph F. Kott, president of District 54, International Association of Machinists. He said he especially resented the timing of Thursday's action — three working days before an election to determine whether IAM Local 233 or Teamster Local 293 will be bargaining agent for Gabriel employees.

Most operations at the plant will be shut down starting Monday for a two-week vacation. The election, to be conducted by the National Labor Relations Board, is scheduled for Aug. 8.

Kott said the seven-cent hourly wage increase granted the entire plant working force of 1,000 "is only a down payment on what is due the employees."

Robert T. Hood, Gabriel president, indicated in announcing the wage boost and grievance plan that production had suffered because of the dispute between the IAM and the Teamsters.

The contract between the company and the IAM expired a year ago and two elections held since were invalidated by the NLRB. The first was won by the IAM and the second by the Teamsters.

Ohio Penal Revision Said To Be Needed

LONDON, Ohio (AP) — Ohio must revise its entire procedure of dealing with crime and punishment, Gov. Michael V. DiSalle said here Thursday.

"Methods Ohio and other states have been using to combat crime have failed miserably — failed from every standpoint," he said.

The governor said 28 per cent of the inmates who are in Mansfield Reformatory served a term at the Lancaster Boys Industrial School, and 32 per cent of the inmates of adult correctional institutions either served time at Lancaster or at Mansfield.

"Sixty-five per cent of those in the London Correctional Institution are repeaters," he said. "So, if the system has produced no better results, isn't it time that we re-examine the methods that we use and try to find reasons for our failure?"

The governor said some small changes made by the state, such as expanding the Pardon and Parole Commission from three to five members, adding two qualified analysts to the staff, inaugurating prehearings and stepping up the hearings on individual inmates from 3 minutes to 12 produced excellent results. But he said the parole system needs to be re-examined more and more.

Two Ball Players Given Treatment

Three persons were treated and released at the emergency room of Berger Hospital yesterday following non-vehicle accidents.

Glenn Fowler, 18, Route 4, was playing basketball and twisted his left ankle.

Scotty McFarland, 13, son of Mr. and Mrs. Donald McFarland, 219 Cedar Heights Road, received abrasions to his right leg when he was struck by a baseball.

Connie Sue Hoover, 5, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Hoover, 408 E. Franklin St., lacerated her lower lip when she fell on concrete steps.

Compromise Farm Bill Is Approved

WASHINGTON (AP) — The House has passed a compromise farm bill that most members found barely palatable.

Here is how Ohio's congressmen voted:

Democrats for: Ashley, Cook, Kirwan, Moeller, Vanik. Republicans for: Ayres.

Democrats against: Feighan. Republicans against: Ashbrook, Betts, Bow, Brown, Clancy, Devine, Harsha, Latta, McCulloch, Minshall, Moorehead, Mosher, Schenck, Scoer.

Not recorded as voting: Hays, B. Bolton R.

The measure continues, with some changes, the existing voluntary crop reduction programs for wheat and feed grains, and provides for new voluntary curbs for milk production. It replaces the more restrictive administration bill rejected by the House last month.

The bitter farm bill battle is far from over, however, as the Senate, which has already passed the administration measure, is now being asked to reverse itself and accept the House version. Senate leaders have given no indication they are willing to do so.

Nobody who spoke in Thursday's House debate on the bill could find a good word to say for it.

The chief argument used to win support was that the bill was better than none at all. Failure to pass it would mean reverting to the 1958 program of unlimited production and high price supports that built up the present huge surpluses, the House was told.

The leadership, bolstered by ranking Republicans on the Agriculture Committee, pleaded successfully against making any changes that might upset the delicate bipartisan agreement that carried the bill through.

Under the bill the acreage under both the corn and wheat programs that could be retired voluntarily in exchange for government payments would be increased from 40 per cent of the base acreage to 50 per cent.

The dairy provision would pay farmers up to $2.50 for each hundred-weight of milk by which they voluntarily reduce production.

Stellar sea lions are superb swimmers and fishers. They dive as deep as 600 feet for food. Though a grown bull may weigh a ton and fearlessly charge a man, it can be frightened off by the mere opening of an umbrella.

HOLLYWOOD (AP)—The obituaries for William Faulkner said little or nothing about his writing for films, a phase of his career of which he was not particularly proud.

Yet the Nobel Prize winner spent a lot of time in the Hollywood studios, largely because of director Howard Hawks. They worked well together, perhaps because both were free-wheeling mavericks with scant regard for the system.

Hawks reminisced in his Paramount office this week about his long association with Faulkner: "We first got together in 1932 or 1933, when I read some of his work. I was much impressed and I showed his work to Ben Hecht and Charlie MacArthur. They and Alexander Woolcott and others around New York started talking about him, so I think I had a part in his discovery as a writer."

NO MORE BLOWOUTS OR FLATS!

With the new Captive-Air Double Eagle

Unquestionably, the safest tire in the world... because of its superb 3-T Nylon cord strength... and Goodyear's unmatched "inner tire", the Steel-Cord Captive-Air Safety Shield.

- Most tires aren't tough enough to resist sudden ripping damage at any speed... but the triple-tempered 3-T Nylon cord plies of the new Double Eagle are an unbeatable wall of strength!
- If, by some chance, the Double Eagle is damaged, you're still protected, because the Steel-Cord Safety Shield immediately takes over and carries the load any time.

DOUBLE GUARANTEE NATION-WIDE

Goodyear guarantees if your Double Eagle with Safety Shield ever goes flat, we will:

1. Pay for your road service.
2. Replace the Shield at no cost.
3. Give you full allowance for unused tread wear if your tire is damaged.

All New Goodyear Auto Tires Are Guaranteed Nationwide against normal road hazards — i.e., blow-outs, fabric breaks, cuts — except repairable punctures. Limited to original owner for number of months specified.

Any Goodyear tire dealer will repair without charge, or make allowance on new tire based on original tread depth remaining and the current "Goodyear price".

INTRODUCTORY PRICE OFFER!

Up to $100.00 trade-in value for your old tires when you put new Captive-Air Double Eagles on your car, plus lowest prices ever offered on this premium quality tire!

Consumer's Forgotten Role

Many consumers probably are not aware that the quart of milk they pick up at the corner grocery or have delivered to their homes has become involved in a government power play. Federal government regulation of milk supply and price is nothing new. Uncle Sam has been in the milk business for a quarter of a century.

Through more than 80 milk marketing areas, the government has evolved a complicated system of milk marketing orders which has the effect of regulating the price of about half the milk sold in this country.

A strong support of this program has been blasted away by the Supreme Court, and the bureaucrats in charge of milk regulation have appealed to Congress for legislative relief.

The issue doesn't concern milk producers inside the government's more than 80 marketing areas, but involves the Agricultural Department's long continued practice of compelling producers outside the protected marketing areas to "contribute" compensatory payments to a fund maintained by farmers producing inside the areas before the outsiders could sell their milk inside the paper barrier.

This internal tariff system has been invalidated by the Supreme Court, and the marketing area price support program is threatened. The immediate effect, an Agricultural Department official admitted, "would be a drop in milk prices." This would put out of business marginal producers who can only operate under artificially high prices.

All of which is interesting commentary on the motives of government when it interferes in the market place. Obviously, the interference is intended to favor either the producer, the distributor of the consumer. And the consumer is the forgotten man in government.

Helping Yourself

Stores are wonderful. Some of them generously offer "easy payment plans," "credit," and even purchases with "no-down payment necessary." And then there are the supermarkets. They may not offer credit, but they do have signs which simply say: "Help Yourself."

What happens? Some people attempt to establish credit, but are told that they cannot have it because they haven't been in town long enough or because they have a few greedy creditors lurking in the distance. This is disheartening news to gullible souls.

But the worst thing that can happen did happen to an Epsom, England, lady. After being jailed for shoplifting in a supermarket, she said, among other things, "They say help yourself. Look what happens when you do."

Hole in Ground Laughs Back

By Hal Boyle

TOWNSEND, Tenn. (AP)—Fortune is where you find it, but it takes a lot of imagination to see a profitable future in a worthless hole in the ground.

Two mountain boys here had that kind of imagination—and the kind of courage that enabled them to follow a dream that made them the laughing stocks of the valley for years.

But today Harry Myers and Bill Vananda are the proprietors of Tuckaleechee Caverns, one of the country's successful commercial caves.

The age-old cavern and its bubbling brook haunted the childhood of the two friends.

"We played Tom Sawyer in the main passage as kids," recalled Myers. "We explored it for three quarters of a mile, sometimes wriggling on our bellies, and lighting our way with home-made lamps—pop bottles filled with kerosene."

In 1949, while drinking coffee in a Maryville College hangout, the pair fell to reminiscing about the cavern and decided to try to turn it into a tourist attraction.

The project did take a lot of gumption. Nobody would lend them money. Each of the young men was married and had two children. They went to Alaska and labored on construction jobs there to raise funds.

After four years of lonely toil—the two men carried in hundreds of tons of sand, cement and gravel on their backs to build steps and passageways — they opened the cave in 1953.

That first year the cave had only 2,000 visitors, and Myers and Vananda glumly wondered whether those who had laughed at them were right after all.

But they stubbornly worked on widening passageways, and the next year discovered one of the largest cavern rooms in the East.

That turned out to be their real bonanza.

The cave now draws 30,000 or more visitors annually and as Harry wryly observed, "The same fellows who called us fools now say, 'I knew you had a good thing there when you started.'"

What is the biggest headache of a commercial cave proprietor? "It's that one out of every 150 visitors—and usually it's an adult, not a teen ager—who wants to break off one of the rock formations for a souvenir," said Harry.

"Water has to drip 100 years to make a single cubic inch of stalagmite. It may take nature 10,000 years to form just one small crystal spire — and then some joker comes along and breaks it off in a single second."

"And when he gets it a boy ground what does he have? Just a piece of worthless stone. It has no meaning except in the cave where it grew."

The Business World

By Sam Dawson

NEW YORK (AP)—One way to make money on a bear market is to sell your stock when it is still fairly high priced and buy it back at a lower price. That way you keep your portfolio intact and have some cash on the side.

Another is to sell stock you don't even own, expecting to buy it at a lower price later to replace the shares you borrowed from your broker, and pocketing the profit. That's called short selling.

And right now there's more stock sold short than at any time since September 1958. And brokers say there apparently also has been a lot of selling of stock actually owned with the aim of replacing it at a lower price.

The trouble with either way of making money—as with many other schemes for beating the market—is that it doesn't always work.

The price of the stock sold, either your own or borrowed, may go up instead of down. Then you're out of pocket. And if the market rebound is vigorous, you may be out a lot of money.

And the stock exchanges have rules governing such sales, and there are income tax rules to be remembered. (Round lot short-sales can be made only after there's been at least a fractional price increase in the stock.)

That's why short selling takes strong nerves. And it is a particularly risky game for the novice, much as he may be attracted right now by the long slide in stock prices and all the bearish talk about the future.

On July 13 the short position in stocks listed on the New York Stock Exchange was 5,158,849 shares, highest in nearly four years, and a gain of 546,888 shares since June 13. But the biggest monthly jump since the exchange started gathering the figures in 1931 was the May 16 to June 13 increase of 1,345,088 shares.

The record high number of shares sold short was 6,087,356 in July 1955.

The latest figures indicate that on Friday the Thirteenth bearish sentiment in Wall Street or Main Street was the highest in four years. Of the 1,547 stocks listed in the Big Board, a short position had been taken in 1,044.

This expression of bearish sentiment can have a depressing effect on the market, particularly if it is catching and leads others to seek quick profits by selling short.

But a large volume of short sales also has its bullish connotation. This is because sooner or later the shorts will have to buy the stock to replace the shares they have borrowed. Theoretically, the market has a potential demand for more than five million shares—when and if the shorts think the time to buy is right, or when they are forced to buy to cut their losses on a rising market.

Since the amount of the short position is little more than the average daily volume of sales of late, the so-called short cushion might be less effective than some hope.

And the stock exchange stresses that the Friday the Thirteenth volume of short interest represents less than one tenth of one per cent of the shares listed on the exchange.

Still the rise indicates a growth of bearish sentiment, even as it represents potential buying demand. It also indicates that more traders are taking a chance on getting badly clipped if they guessed wrong.

One fighter in a Thailand boxing match was billed "Bright star of Petch Chingchai camp, who loves to march in and bangs it away from going to homestretch." His opponent was called "Blast-off star of Wongdeves camp, the good produce of the cauliflower industry of Bangkok."

THE LATE Albert Einstein was not the one to bother his head with the mazes of modern finance. An indignant friend made him sell them at once, and undertook to reinvest the funds in gilt-edged securities.

For twenty years Dr. Einstein never questioned him once about his holdings. Then the friend informed him that the securities had vaulted to a market value of over $200,000! Today's wise First-Aider first checks your wallet, in case you carry an emergency identification card explaining what to do and whom to call.

You need one if you're taking medicine to slow blood-clotting. Doctors prescribe these medicines whenever clot formation inside vessels threatens life or limb.

The medicine doesn't water down your blood. It counteracts one of the complicated chemical reactions needed to build blood clots. The same dose carries a different punch at different times — and in different people. Without tests to measure the ant clotting effect, your doctor's flying blind. He can't tell how far you're off course and in what direction.

If he prescribes vitamin K1 tablets — the usual antidote — keep some with you always, just in case.

Ask about other medicines you're taking. Aspirin, cold remedies, vitamins and tonics may magnify or shrink the anti-clotting effect.

How about drinking and smoking? Tobacco and alcohol affect clotting, too.

Mention your anti-clotting medicine to any doctor or dentist you consult. Otherwise, tooth-pulling might turn into bloody tragedy.

Expectant mothers and victims of possible internal injury may have to stop the medicine. Ask your doctor. Tell him about every minor ailment.

Crampy intestinal rivers give anti-clotting medicines extra punch. Any bleeding, easy bruising or extra blood blisters signal danger. So does brownish bladder overflow and black intestinal contents. Severe headaches and tummy-aches, too.

Brief someone at home about your condition, medicine and danger signals.

Ask your doctor for a special identification card supplied by the American Heart Association. It should tell both you and your doctor's name, address and phone number — and the name of your anti-clotting medicine. New York Dems in Need
By George Sokolsky

Thus far, the Democrats in New York have not come up with a candidate who can be elected against Nelson Rockefeller, the present incumbent. This cannot be satisfactory to the Kennedys who need to knock Rockefeller out in 1962 so that he will not be a candidate for the Presidency in 1964.

The Democratic Party in New York is split and splintered. The Reformers, organized by Mrs. Eleanor Roosevelt and Senator Herbert Lehman to rid the Party of Carmine De Sapio, is in splinters. The dominant group among the Reformers is led by such very clever women as Mrs. Anna Rosenberg who is shortly to become Mrs. Paul Hoffman, and Mrs. Mary Lasker. They managed to get rid of Carmine De Sapio but they have not been able to control the Reformers whom they brought into power. They have thus far failed to destroy the Bronx Democratic leader, Charles Buckley. President Kennedy had made it clear that he prefers Buckley. They permitted the mayor, Robert Wagner, to give the impression that he is the Democratic leader of the state and have thus separated him from leadership groups in up-state counties. They have damaged the influence of the Keoghs in Brooklyn and have thereby left that enormous population without the leadership to which they are accustomed.

To a by-stander, it would almost seem as though they sought to make it possible for Rockefeller to run against nobody and get elected. The normal leadership in the Democratic Party is incensed by the conduct of the Reform Group and is seeking explanations, some of which are obvious in the personal and business relations of the various individuals involved.

As the young man said to his lady love, "Tempus fugit and let's go on!" There is very little time left before the Democrats must decide on a candidate who can defeat Rockefeller. Such a candidate must have state-wide popularity; he must have a following among old-line Democrats and at the same time be satisfactory to the Liberal Party leader, Alex Rose. He must be satisfactory to Negro and Italian leadership and he must not, in his career, have established a record offensive to Jews. He must appeal to dissatisfied Republicans of which there are many.

This is the demographic nature of New York State and politics must follow it. The Kennedys face an intricate situation here and it is easy to make a mistake about it. The so-called "nice," "well-informed" people can speak for Park and Fifth Avenues, but they do not know Albany or Syracuse or Buffalo any better than they do Brooklyn or Greenwich Village. "Nice" people are most often wrong in politics because voting is local and by prejudice. To know Adam Clayton Powell is to know only one phase of Harlem where the Black Nationalists vote as a body.

The old-line politician does not generalize. He has his ear to the ground; he mends fences; he makes deals and kisses babies; he does favors and gets jobs. He is a professional.

The Reformers are not professionals. They are puffed up because they managed to get rid of Carmine De Sapio, the Democratic leader, who removed himself by a series of unbelievable errors. He substituted prejudice for sound judgement. As gratitude is not a virtue among politicians, as soon as John F. Kennedy was elected President, De Sapio found that most of his friends and supporters were such no longer. He was out. It was not the reformers who destroyed DeSapio's leadership; he did it himself.

Thus far, there has been no successor to De Sapio and that is why the Democrats are in such difficulties. This state is as large in population as Canada. It is diverse economically, ethnologically and religiously and these are the principal ingredients of the Vote. The manipulation of the Vote requires skill and a specialized experience. Franklin D. Roosevelt possessed political charm, but the skill and experience which brought him to the Governorship of New York State rested with such competent persons as Al Smith, James Farley and Belle Moskowitz. Jim Farley brought Roosevelt into the Presidency. When Roosevelt got there, he knew what to do to stay there.

This kind of professional competence does not appear in the New York State Democratic Party at this moment and unless someone gets busy to supply it, Rockefeller may not be defeated.

The old-line politician does not generalize. He has his ear to the ground; he mends fences; he makes deals and kisses babies; he does favors and gets jobs. He is a professional.

The Reformers are not professionals. They are puffed up because they managed to get rid of Carmine De Sapio, the Democratic leader, who removed himself by a series of unbelievable errors. He substituted prejudice for sound judgment. As gratitude is not a virtue among politicians, as soon as John F. Kennedy was elected President, De Sapio found that most of his friends and supporters were such no longer. He was out. It was not the reformers who destroyed De Sapio's leadership; he did it himself.

Thus far, there has been no successor to De Sapio and that is why the Democrats are in such difficulties. This state is as large in population as Canada. It is diverse economically, ethnologically and religiously and these are the principal ingredients of the Vote.

The manipulation of the Vote requires skill and a specialized experience. Franklin D. Roosevelt possessed political charm, but the skill and experience which brought him to the Governorship of New York State rested with such competent persons as Al Smith, James Farley and Belle Moskowitz. Jim Farley brought Roosevelt into the Presidency. When Roosevelt got there, he knew what to do to stay there.

This kind of professional competence does not appear in the New York State Democratic Party at this moment and unless someone gets busy to supply it, Rockefeller may not be defeated.

MYF Youth Leave Today For 2-Day Cincinnati Tour

Twenty-two youth of the First Methodist Church are leaving today by chartered bus for a two-day trip to Cincinnati to tour Methodist supported projects. Accompanying the group are Mr. and Mrs. Robert Wood and Mrs. Marshall Douthett.

The schedule for Friday includes a tour of Bethesda and Christ Hospital, Wesley Child-Care Center and Cokesbury Press and Bookstore. In the evening the group will see the Cincinnati Reds play the New York Mets at Crosley Field.

Saturday plans include a tour of Scarlet Oaks and the Methodist Home, both institutions for the aged, the Goodwill Industries and several churches.

Plans for the trip were made with the assistance of the Church of the Savior, Cincinnati. The Rev. James Hipkins is pastor. The youth of that church will entertain the Circleville MYF at a swimming party and dinner before their return home late Saturday evening.

Members taking the trip are: Sheryl Wood, Steve Thomerson, John Wardell, John Barnhart, Betsy Barnhart, Steve Weller, David Amey, Cheryl Jenkins, Steve Bowers, Tom Carroll, John Hatcher, Margie Cook, Ellen E. Jenkins, Cynthia Thompson, Linda Burton, John Magill, Stephanie Marion, Pam Sweeney, John Jeffries, Douglas Dunkel, David Greene and Kay Felkey.

They will stay at the Sinton Hotel in downtown Cincinnati.

New Ways of Serving Versatile Snap Beans

By ALICE DENHOFF

Snap up your summer menus with some new ideas for ever-popular snap beans. Crisp, delicately flavored, versatile snap beans are popular everywhere, and no wonder. As a team player in the cold salad line-up, snap beans cooked until just crisp-tender are an excellent choice. And spices add a real lift to many hot vegetable dishes using snap beans.

SNAP BEAN CASSEROLE

2 (10½-oz.) pkgs. frozen snap beans

1 (10½-oz.) can condensed cream of mushroom soup

1 tsp. freshly-minced onion

2 tsp. chopped pimiento

½ tsp. salt

¼ tsp. black pepper

½ c. buttered bread crumbs

Cook beans according to pkg. directions, draining, if necessary.

Add next 5 ingredients and toss lightly to blend.

Turn into 1-qt. casserole. Top with bread crumbs.

Bake at 350 degrees F. for 20 min. or until brown.

Serve at once. Serves 4 to 6.

SNAP BEANS WITH NUTMEG BUTTER

1½ lbs. fresh snap beans

1 in. boiling water in saucepan

1 tsp. salt

3 tsp. butter or margarine

¼ tsp. ground nutmeg

¼ tsp. black pepper

Wash snap beans. Cut off tips and cut beans in 1-in. pieces.

Place in saucepan with boiling salted water. Bring to boiling point, boil uncovered, 5 min.

Cover and continue cooking until just crisp-tender, about 10 min. Drain.

Toss lightly with butter, nutmeg and pepper.

Serves 6.

FRESH SNAP BEANS WITH POPPY SEED BUTTER

¼ c. butter or margarine

1 c. poppy seed

¼ tsp. paprika

1-16 tsp. cayenne

1 lb. French style cooked fresh snap beans

Melt butter or margarine in saucepan.

Add poppy seed and heat until butter is golden brown.

Stir in paprika and cayenne; pour over freshly-cooked snap beans.

Serve hot.

Serves 5 to 6.

Easy Bread Recipes Filled with Goodness

By ALICE DENHOFF

It's good to have on hand some jiffy bread recipes. We've all experienced Sunday mornings when we wished for a tasty coffee cake — one that we forgot to buy. At other times, we have wanted a bread with a flair for a take-it-easy supper.

So perhaps you may want to try these recipes for these jiffy breads.

CARAMEL PECAN SQUARES

1 (1-lb.) loaf unsliced enriched bread

¼ c. melted butter or margarine

½ c. firmly-packed brown sugar

½ c. chopped pecans

2 tsp. water

With sharp knife, remove crusts from loaf of bread. Cut in half, lengthwise.

Make a lengthwise cut in the center of each half and divide into 8 sections. Do not completely cut through lower crust.

Combine butter, sugar, pecans and water; spread in bottom of shallow 9-in. square loaf pan.

Place bread, cut sides down, over caramel mixture. Bake at 400 degrees F. for 10 min.

Let stand in pan one minute after removing from oven.

Invert pan to remove squares, so that caramel mixture is up.

GLAZED COCONUT LOAF

1 (1-lb.) loaf unsliced bread

½ c. firmly-packed brown sugar

¼ c. soft butter or margarine

2 tsp. honey

2 tsp. shredded coconut

With sharp knife, remove crusts from loaf. Cut bread diagonally, almost through to bottom crust, into 12 slices.

Combine sugar, cinnamon, butter and honey. Spread 2 tsp. of this mixture between each slice of bread and sprinkle remainder on top of loaf. Sprinkle coconut over top.

Place loaf on greased cookie sheet and heat at 400 degrees F. for 10 min.

WHEAT CHEESE LOAF

1 (1-lb.) loaf unsliced whole wheat bread

1 c. grated Cheddar cheese

¼ c. chopped stuffed olives

2 tsp. chopped onion

¼ c. soft butter or margarine

2 tsp. prepared mustard

Cut bread in half, lengthwise.

Cut each half loaf, almost through to bottom crust, into 12 slices.

Combine remaining ingredients and spread mixture between each slice of bread.

Place on cookie sheet and heat at 400 degrees F. for 12 min., or until piping hot and crusty.

Makes 24 slices or 12 servings.

Negro Leader Says Hate Is Always Tragic

WASHINGTON (AP)—"Hate is always tragic," says the Rev. Martin Luther King, Jr.

And, he contends, the beauty of the nonviolent movement against segregation in America is that it can be founded on love—not hate.

The Atlanta minister and civil rights leader expounded on non-violent civil disobedience Thursday to a hushed audience at the National Press Club. Afterward the newsmen gave a standing ovation to the first American Negro to appear before the club.

King said nonviolent resistance "has a way of disarming the opponent; it exposes his moral defenses, it weakens his morale and at the same time it works on his conscience."

He conceded that he and his followers have broken laws in their fight against segregation in the South. But moral persons have a duty to violate unjust laws, and then pay the penalty, he said.

"What was more in line with civil disobedience than the Boston Tea Party?" he asked.

Dear Abby: Say It with a Smile!

DEAR ABBY: Just because I have the kind of job where I have to keep a smile on my face and look friendly (I am a waitress) some of the men I serve think I am fair game. I am not interested in any man as I am waiting for my boy friend, who is away in the service. What should I do when men give me the eye?

THE GIRL BACK HOME
DEAR GIRL: Give them the NO'S! And more power to you!

DEAR ABBY: My neighbor sends her children to play in my yard because hers is beautifully planted with flower beds and she doesn't want to disturb it. I will admit that my yard is nothing to brag about but those kids drive me crazy with their noise. How can I tell my neighbor that although my yard makes a good playground, I can't stand the racket? Please give me an excuse I can use.

NOT YOUNG ANY MORE
DEAR NOT YOUNG: Why use an "excuse" when you have a perfectly legitimate REASON? Tell your neighbor that you can't stand the noise.

DEAR ABBY: My daughter almost burned the house down trying to turn up her diary in her waste basket. Fortunately the fire department got here and put the fire out in time. I am disturbed now, wondering what she was trying so desperately to hide. She is only 15.

TROUBLED MOM
DEAR MOM: It's time for a good old-fashioned mother and daughter chat. TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, July 20, the 201st day of 1962. There are 164 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1860, the expulsion of the Neapolitans from Sicily was completed with their defeat by forces led by Garibaldi in the Battle of Milazzo.

On this date:

In 1739, Capt. Edward Vernon sailed from England to raid Spanish ports in Central and South America.

In 1868, Congress approved legislation ordering tax stamps on cigarette packages.

In 1923, Mexican bandit Pancho Villa was assassinated at Parral, Mexico.

In 1936, President Roosevelt ordered all first, second and third class postmasters be placed under civil service.

In 1951, Jordan's King Abdullah was assassinated in Old Jerusalem.

Today's birthdays: Industrialist Benson Ford and explorer Sir Edmund Hillary are 43.

TODAY In History

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS

Today is Friday, July 20, the 201st day of 1962. There are 164 days left in the year.

Today's highlight in history: On this day in 1860, the expulsion of the Neapolitans from Sicily was completed with their defeat by forces led by Garibaldi in the Battle of Milazzo.

On this date: In 1739, Capt. Edward Vernon sailed from England to raid Spanish ports in Central and South America.

In 1868, Congress approved legislation ordering tax stamps on cigarette packages.

In 1923, Mexican bandit Pancho Villa was assassinated at Parral, Mexico.

In 1936, President Roosevelt ordered all first, second and third class postmasters be placed under civil service.

In 1951, Jordan's King Abdullah was assassinated in Old Jerusalem.

Today's birthdays: Industrialist Benson Ford and explorer Sir Edmund Hillary are 43.

Thought for today: Let ignorance talk as it will, learning has its value—Jean de la Fontaine.

Darbyville WSCS Conducts Meeting

Eleven members and one guest were present when the Darbyville WSCS met recently in the home of Mrs. Gary Peart, Route 2.

Mrs. Elizabeth Downs, president, opened the business meeting. Plans were made for the stock sale dinner August 1. Mrs. Mary Peart will be in charge of devotions for the next meeting and Mrs. Mary Ellen Pettibone will be in charge of the program.

Following the benediction Mrs. Marie Ankrom presented the program. She read, "A Call" and Miss Roxanne Hulse gave a reading.

Two contests were enjoyed with Mrs. Elizabeth Downs, Mrs. Wendell Neff and Mrs. Carl Dudlison as winners.

The next meeting will be in the home of Mrs. Roy Ankrom and Mrs. Ray Hulse, Route 1, Williamsport.

Girl Parachutist Describes Freak Plunge as 'Wonderful'

MARSTON MILLS, Mass. (AP)—"I had a wonderful free feeling while falling," said a 20-year-old girl parachutist after a half-mile plunge from an airplane into a lake.

"Then I saw the chute was not going to open and I said, 'The heck with it; I'm going down.'"

Petite, blonde Lois Ann Frotten awoke from sedation Thursday at Cape Cod Hospital after a parachute leap in which she hurtled into a lake.

Hospital officials said that she was in good condition—that she suffered little more than a cut nose and two minor fractures of small bones in her spin in her 2,500-foot tumbling fall into a lake after an attempted parachute jump.

With her mother at her bedside, the slender Hyannis telephone operator chatted freely with interviewers about her first—and perhaps last—jump. She explained that one leg had become entangled in the chute.

"I thought I had got out of the plane all right," she said. "I thought I made a good jump. For a few seconds I had a wonderful free feeling."

After realizing her chute would not open, she said she began to "wonder where I was going to land."

"I tried to pull the cord to open the spare parachute but I guess I didn't have the strength to open it."

"I don't remember hitting the water or saying anything after I was pulled out."

Although Lois Ann could not remember her remarks to her rescuers, they quoted her as saying her first leap would also be her last.

"I'll never jump again," she gasped as rescuers lifted her from Mystic Lake in a condition of semi-shock and hysteria.

Witnesses said that as the girl tumbled end-over-end through the air, the entangled sleeve of the chute disengaged about 100 to 150 feet above the water and partly opened the chute. Its brief drag may have saved her life. Apparently was enough to straighten her position so that she struck the water feet first, in a slanting, half-sitting position.

When she was rushed to the hospital in Hyannis, attendants were astounded to discover that—apart from facial lacerations—she apparently had suffered no more than severe body bruises and hysteria.

Her hysteria quieted, she slept under sedation today.

It was cloudy Wednesday afternoon, with a breath of rain in the air when the small plane carrying Miss Frotten, her friend John Burke, 31, of West Yarmouth, and a parachuting instructor, John L. LaRoche, flew from the air strip near Marston Mills. The object was to parachute onto the field.

At about 2,500 feet, Burke jumped and landed safely in brush at the field's edge. Tensely, Miss Frotten jumped. Something went wrong.

Her thoughts in her tumbling fall apparently were to correct her error—if any. For among her first words after rescue was the question, "What did I do wrong?" She was wearing an emergency pack but failed to pull the emergency rip cord.

But during her plunge — apparently to the muddy bottom of the 20-feet deep water—and her rise to the surface, she had sufficient presence of mind to free herself.

Wife Preservers

Leaves in vases can often be stopped by pouring melted paraffin over the leaky spot and letting it harden.

Modern recipes for custard pie usually suggest testing for doneness by inserting a silver knife near the center. That's because heat will be retained after the pie comes out of the oven and finish the setting of the custard filling.

USE THE CLASSIFIEDS

FIRST DATE

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

It was in May, several years ago that Mildred moved next door. That was a break for Eric. It is so easy to get acquainted with one's neighbors.

The first date naturally called for careful strategy. You don't want to seem too eager — but you want to know what she likes... and what she's like. Eric's and Mildred's first date was a Youth Fellowship supper at the church.

Eric happens to be a leader of this group. And Mildred happens to be an earnest Christian girl.

Of course, happens is a very broad word. It means that Eric's and Mildred's parents had once decided that a son or a daughter ought to be given the advantage of religious training.

Now Eric and Mildred are engaged. And everybody says they were meant for each other. And the altar before which they take their vows will be the heart of the religious life of their family. Thus it happens!

St. Philip's Episcopal

The Fifth Sunday after Trinity will be observed at St. Philip's Episcopal Church with a celebration of the Holy Communion at 8 a. m. and Morning Prayer and Sermon at 10 a. m. The Rev. William G. Huber will officiate at both services.

The Girls' Choir will sing "Glory to the Father Give" in an arrangement by Healey Willan. The organ prelude will be the "Credo" by Bach and a Chorale Prelude by Willan, "Orientibus Partibus".

There will be a summer church school class for children 8 years of age and under, and a nursery for children three and under.

Acolytes serving at 8 a. m. will be Bill Weldon and Danny Thompson. Those scheduled at 10 a. m. are Tom Wright, Dudley Radcliff, Louis Pomerville and Jeff Thompson with Bill Huber in charge.

First Baptist

Sunday School begins at 9:30 a. m. at the First Baptist Church. Wayne Koonce is superintendent of the adult session and Mrs. George Trego is in charge of the childrens division. Scripture reference for the lesson will be Jeremiah 27:12-17 and 37:6-10.

Morning worship services are at 10:45. Special music will be provided by Mrs. Joseph Miller. Guest speaker will be the Rev. Ward C. Ky, of Groveport.

Evening Services start with the Baptist Training Union at 6:30. Richard Tucker is director and a class is provided for all ages.

Worship Services follow at 7:30 p. m. Cherie McKinney and Judy Smith will provide special music. Rev. Key will also be guest speaker for these services.

Nursery will be available for all services.

Presbyterian

The Sunday School will commence at 9:20 a. m. at the First Presbyterian Church. Edward G. Grigg is the superintendent.

The Worship Service will begin at 10:20 a. m. with "Hymns of Meditation" followed by the prelude, "Aspiration" by Titcomb. The solo, "I Sought the Lord" will be sung by Miss Sharon Hull.

The Rev. Henry A. Walters will preach on the theme, "Am I a Christian?" Mrs. Theodore Huston will play "Elegy of the Bells" by Carre as her offertory and "Praise the Lord" by Saint-Sans as the postlude.

Ask Prayer Rule Review

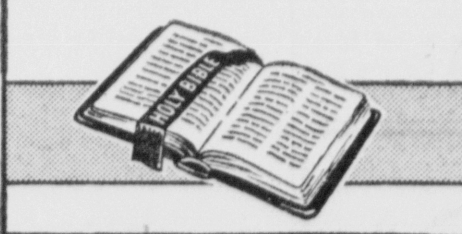

FRANCH LICK, Ind. (AP)—Ohio is among 12 midwestern states asking the U.S. Supreme Court to reconsider its decision that states cannot require reading prayers in public schools. Delegates to the Midwestern Regional Conference of the Council of State Governments adopted the resolution at the final session of their annual meeting here Wednesday.

USE THE CLASSIFIEDS

THE CHURCH FOR ALL... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake. (3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

It was in May, several years ago that Mildred moved next door. That was a break for Eric. It is so easy to get acquainted with one's neighbors.

The first date naturally called for careful strategy. You don't want to seem too eager — but you want to know what she likes... and what she's like. Eric's and Mildred's first date was a Youth Fellowship supper at the church.

Eric happens to be a leader of this group. And Mildred happens to be an earnest Christian girl.

Of course, happens is a very broad word. It means that Eric's and Mildred's parents had once decided that a son or a daughter ought to be given the advantage of religious training.

Now Eric and Mildred are engaged. And everybody says they were meant for each other. And the altar before which they take their vows will be the heart of the religious life of their family. Thus it happens!

Coup in Peru May Help Cause of Latin Reds

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
Peru's conservative military men probably have given the Communist-Castroist forces in Latin America a helping hand and struck a blow at President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress.

The military seizure of the government in Lima was not based on reason or on logic but on emotionalism. It was a thing the Latin Americans call "personalismo"— a big grudge.

The June 10 election in Peru was important for the whole hemisphere. By refusing to let constitutional processes operate, Peru's military drove home some

doleful truths.
The election was a test whether old habits could be broken, whether oligarchies and military leaders could change their spots and reform. Peru's experience indicates they cannot.
It is not an isolated case. It resembles Argentina's experience, demonstrating the blind spots affecting the military in much of Latin America. The Argentine army did not like the results of an election last spring, so it moved in and installed a figurehead president.
Argentina's case embarrassed the United States. Argentina is too important a country to let go down the drain, but there was only a basically illegal, imposed government to work with. Accepting it, the United States drew taunts from its enemies and criticism among its friends.
Like Argentina, Peru is an important nation in the Alliance scheme. Its future is a critical matter to Latin America. Yet to work hand in glove with an illegal regime imposed by the army is to feed ammunition to the extreme left.

The paradox in the military's action is this: Of the three major candidates in the June 10 election, only Victor Raul Haya de la
Torre ran on an openly anti-Communist platform. His popular Revolutionary Alliance Party had co-operated for six years with the intelligent government of President Manuel Prado. It had shed its old extremist attitudes.

On the other hand, Haya's opponents might have been suspect by a conservative military leadership. Fernando Belaunde Terry flirted with the Communists and Castroists. Former dictator Manuel Odria did not reject extreme left support. The Communists were interested in one main goal:
Haya, as a "reformist," had to be stopped by any means.
The army had an old grudge against Haya and his party, dating back to the violent days of the 1930s. So did certain members of Peru's rich oligarchy. In advance of the election, military officers announced they would not accept a Haya victory although they allowed the voting, apparently in hopes he would lose.

Haya got more votes than any of seven candidates, though not the third of all votes required for election. But the army could not prove fraud, even though it made the charge. There was a possibility that when the election was thrown to Congress July 28, Haya would make a deal with Odria.
The military leaders would not stand still for that. They moved in. Probably they have ended for good Haya's political hopes in Peru. But they have not ended his party's influence, and they may only have succeeded in driving its members to violence. Peru may be in for a rough time, and if so, there will be wide repercussions in Latin America.

Youngster Pickets 'Unfair' Neighbor

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The
youngster walked in front of the house with a sign which read:
"Joe unfair to children."
He was one of about 30 boys and girls who picketed the home of Joseph A. Rosella in Pittsburgh's Brookline section Wednesday night because Rosella refused to return two footballs kicked onto his property.
"All we want is peace and quiet," Rosella told newsmen.
He said the children have been playing in front of his house for some time, kicking footballs on his property and making noise.
He and his wife were ignored
when they asked the youngsters to go to a nearby playground,
Rosella said.

Union Funds Are Denied Chiefs Accused of Fraud
WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S.
Court of Appeals has ruled that labor unions may not use union paid attorneys or union funds to defend union officers charged with fraud.
The court unanimously ordered a U.S. District Court review of the question whether President
James R. Hoffa and other Teamsters Union officials must reimburse the union for legal services in certain fraud charges cases.

Valuable Find

BALTIMORE (AP) — Mrs. Mar-

at the white elephant table at the Schenley Road Community Center.
It was a recording made in 1903
by the famous operatic tenor, Enrico Caruso, and cost her only 10 cents. The record sold for $2 when new, and is now worth considerably more, of course, as a collec-

Coup in Peru May Help Cause of Latin Reds

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Special Correspondent
Peru's conservative military men probably have given the Communist-Castroist forces in Latin America a helping hand and struck a blow at President Kennedy's Alliance for Progress.
The military seizure of the government in Lima was not based on reason or on logic but on emotionalism. It was a thing the Latin Americans call "personalismo"—a big grudge.
The June 10 election in Peru was important for the whole hemisphere. By refusing to let constitutional processes operate, Peru's military drove home some doleful truths.

The election was a test whether old habits could be broken, whether oligarchies and military leaders could change their spots and reform. Peru's experience indicates they cannot.
It is not an isolated case. It resembles Argentina's experience, demonstrating the blind spots of the military in much of Latin America. The Argentine army did not like the results of an election last spring, so it moved in and installed a figure-head president.
Argentina's case embarrassed the United States. Argentina is too important a country to let go down the drain, but there was only a basically illegal, imposed government to work with. Accepting it, the United States drew taunts from its enemies and criticism among its friends.
Like Argentina, Peru is an important nation in the Alliance scheme. Its future is a critical matter to Latin America. Yet to work hand in glove with an illegal regime imposed by the army is to feed ammunition to the extreme left.

The paradox in the military's action is this: Of the three major candidates in the June 10 election, only Victor Raul Haya de la Torre ran on an openly anti-Communist platform. His popular Revolutionary Alliance Party had co-operated for six years with the intelligent government of President Manuel Prado. It had shed its old extremist attitudes.

On the other hand, Haya's opponents might have been suspect by a conservative military leader. Fernando Belaunde Terry flirted with the Communists and Castroists. Former dictator Manuel Odria did not reject extreme left support. The Communists were interested in one main goal: Haya, as a "reformist," had to be stopped by any means.
The army had an old grudge against Haya and his party, dating back to the violent days of the 1930s. So did certain members of Peru's rich oligarchy. In advance of the election, military officers announced they would not accept a Haya victory although they allowed the voting, apparently in hopes he would lose.

Haya got more votes than any of seven candidates, though not the third of all votes required for election. But the army could not prove fraud, even though it made the charge. There was a possibility that when the election was thrown to Congress July 28, Haya would make a deal with Odria.
The military leaders would not stand still for that. They moved in. Probably they have ended for good Haya's political hopes in Peru. But they have not ended his party's influence, and they may only have succeeded in driving its members to violence. Peru may be in for a rough time, and if so, there will be wide repercussions in Latin America.

Youngster Pickets 'Unfair' Neighbor

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The youngster walked in front of the house with a sign which read: "Joe unfair to children."
He was one of about 30 boys and girls who picketed the home of Joseph A. Rosella in Pittsburgh's Brookline section Wednesday night because Rosella refused to return two footballs kicked onto his property.
"All we want is peace and quiet," Rosella told newsmen.
He said the children have been playing in front of his house for some time, kicking footballs on his property and making noise. He and his wife were ignored when they asked the youngsters to go to a nearby playground, Rosella said.

Union Funds Are Denied Chiefs Accused of Fraud

WASHINGTON (AP)—The U.S. Court of Appeals has ruled that labor unions may not use union paid attorneys or union funds to defend union officers charged with fraud.
The court unanimously ordered a U.S. District Court review of the question whether President James R. Hoffa and other Teamsters Union officials must reimburse the union for legal services in certain fraud charges cases.

It was a recording made in 1903 by the famous operatic tenor, Enrico Caruso, and cost her only 10 cents. The record sold for $2 when new, and is now worth considerably more, of course, as a collector's item.

Cleveland OKs $55 Million School Issue

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Board of Education has voted to place a $55 million bond issue for new schools on the ballot for the Nov. 6 election. It will be the largest bond issue ever submitted by the board.

In taking the action Wednesday the board junked the "pay as you go" system of financing schools buildings which has been in effect since 1935.

It also sliced about one-third off a proposed long range building program—chiefly $30 million for replacing old buildings—and cut from 10 years to 5 years the schedule for the remainder of the program.

Major projects in the program adopted are five senior high schools, four junior high schools, seven elementary schools and a replacement for Jane Addams Vocational High School for Girls.

Board President Walter L. Davis said the net effect on taxpayers will be a drop in millage if the bond issue is approved. A 2-mill levy for school building, which has two more years to run, would be canceled.

Presbytery Is Silent On McCracken Future

CINCINNATI (AP)—Maurice McCracken, controversial pacifist minister, is apparently free to accept the pastorate of a newly formed church, organized by some of his former parishioners. The Presbytery of Cincinnati said Thursday the group plans no action in McCracken's case until his suspension ends Jan. 31.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Medical care for the aged will be a political punching bag for Democrats and Republicans in this year's elections although both parties, in their 1960 platforms, pledged a program.

Now the old folks—who wind up without a program—must listen to the excuses. The fact is that Republicans blocked passage of President Kennedy's program and so did his own Democrats.

The Democrats in both houses outnumber Republicans so overwhelmingly that, if they had stuck together, they could have rammed Kennedy's program through with ease. They didn't.

Nevertheless Kennedy—who can hardly claim his Democrats made an all-out try—called the failure a "most serious defeat for every American family."

In the Senate, the only place where the issue came to an open vote, it was the Republicans who stuck almost solidly together to defeat the measure, but only with the help of Democrats who joined them.

As a forerunner of what the old folks can expect from the Republicans' explanation in this year's elections, William E. Miller, Republican national chairman, called the administration program a "cruel hoax" anyway.

Report of a holding company affiliate of a national bank published in accordance with Section 5211, U. S. Revised Statutes, Report as of June 30, 1962, of BancOhio Corporation, Columbus, Ohio, which is affiliated with the Second National Bank, Circleville, Ohio, Charter 172, F. D. R. No. 4. Kind of business: BancOhio Corporation is a bank stock holding company. Manner in which above-named organization is affiliated with national bank and degree of control: Owns over 87% of the outstanding shares of the Second National Bank, Circleville, Ohio. Financial relations with bank: Stock of affiliated bank owned, $10,000. Other information necessary to disclose fully relations with bank: BancOhio Corporation extends to its affiliates all types of specialized banking services. J. John L. Burgoon, cashier and assistant treasurer of BancOhio Corporation, do solemnly swear that the above statement is true to the best of my knowledge and belief. John L. Burgoon, Sworn to and subscribed before me this 11th day of July, 1962, Gertrude Ricker, Notary Public, Franklin County, Ohio. My commission expires Dec. 5, 1966. (Seal.)

All of which adds some heat to the dispute but not much light for the old folks who are around to watch the political footwork in Washington.

The Kennedy program was supposed to get its first test in the House. But, before it could get up to the full House for a vote, it had to be approved by the Ways and Means Committee where Democrats outnumber Republicans 15 to 10.

This meant certain approval if the Democrats stuck together. They didn't. What goes on in such a committee—this one is headed by Rep. Wilbur Mills, Arkansas Democrat—is supposedly secret.

But the bill never got approved. Five of the 15 Democrats reportedly joined the 10 Republicans to bottle up the medical care bill and prevent its getting to a vote in the full House. Mills was against it.

The Democrats in the House—where they outnumber the Republicans 261 to 174—could have used a well-known and often-used device to wrench the bill out of the committee so it could be voted on.

That was to get up a petition to bring it to the floor. Such a petition would have needed the signature of 219 of the 261 Democrats, plus any Republicans who wanted to sign. Such a petition was not tried.

Why? The answer seems simple. The Democratic leadership didn't think it could get enough signatures. The fact that there was no petition looks like something less than Democratic fervor for the medical care bill.

And there is no public evidence that Kennedy put any heat on Mills to make him change his position or on any of the other committee Democrats who, like Mills, opposed the Kennedy-sponsored program.

On the Senate side the bill ordinarily would have gone to the Finance Committee whose chairman, Harry Byrd of Virginia, has been giving Kennedy a bad time on other proposals, like tax revision and tax reduction.

But the Democratic leadership, to bypass Byrd, tied the medical care bill to another piece of legislation and thus got it up on the

By James Marlow

Senate floor for a vote.

This was a much weaker bill than the one Mills' committee had bottled up. It was heavily compromised for those who didn't like the other one. Finally the vote came in the Senate where Democrats outnumber Republicans 64 to 36.

This was the vote: 52 to 48 against the bill. Voting for it were 43 Democrats and 5 Republicans. Teaming up to kill it were 21 Democrats who joined 31 Republicans.

Yet, even if the vote had been the other way, the whole business was pretty much an empty gesture. The reason: there was practically no chance for the bill on the House side to get out of Mills' committee for a vote.

What it adds up to is a lot of waiting to political music.

Cicy Teamster Dispute To Be Heard in Court

CINCINNATI (AP)—Common Pleas Court Judge Louis J. Schneider ruled Thursday that a dispute involving control of assets and records of four Cincinnati locals that revolted against the Teamsters Union must be heard in court.

The four rebel locals are the Cab Drivers Local 954; Soft Drink and Brewery Workers Local 152; Funeral Livery Drivers Local 793 and the Dairy Drivers Local. They split with the Teamsters last Aug. 16, and both claimed the records and union money.

Cleveland OKs $55 Million School Issue

CLEVELAND (AP)—The Cleveland Board of Education has voted to place a $55 million bond issue for new schools on the ballot for the Nov. 6 election. It will be the largest bond issue ever submitted by the board.

In taking the action Wednesday the board junked the "pay as you go" system of financing schools buildings which has been in effect since 1935.

It also sliced about one-third off a proposed long-range building program—chiefly $30 million for replacing old buildings—and cut from 10 years to 5 years the schedule for the remainder of the program.

Major projects in the program adopted are five senior high schools, four junior high schools, seven elementary schools and a replacement for Jane Addams Vocational High School for Girls.

Board President Walter L. Davis said the net effect on taxpayers will be a drop in millage if the bond issue is approved, a 2-mill levy for school building, which has two more years to run, would be canceled.

Presbytery Is Silent On McCracken Future

CINCINNATI (AP)—Maurice McCracken, controversial pacifist minister, is apparently free to accept the pastorate of a newly formed church, organized by some of his former parishioners. The Presbytery of Cincinnati said Thursday its group plans no action in McCracken's case until his suspension ends Jan. 31.

The World Today

WASHINGTON (AP)—Medical care for the aged will be a political punching bag for Democrats and Republicans in this year's elections although both parties, in their 1960 platforms, pledged a program.

Now the old folks—who wind up without a program—must listen to the excuses. The fact is that Republicans blocked passage of President Kennedy's program and so did his own Democrats.

The Democrats in both houses outnumber Republicans so overwhelmingly that, if they had stuck together, they could have rammed Kennedy's program through with ease. They didn't.

Nevertheless Kennedy—who can hardly claim his Democrats made an all-out try—called the failure a "most serious defeat for every American family."

In the Senate, the only place where the issue came to an open vote, it was the Republicans who stuck almost solidly together to defeat the measure, but only with the help of Democrats who joined them.

As a forerunner of what the old folks can expect from the Republicans' explanation in this year's elections, William E. Miller, Republican national chairman, called the administration program a "cruel hoax" anyway.

All of which adds some heat to the dispute but not much light for the old folks who are around to watch the political footwork in Washington.

The Kennedy program was supposed to get its first test in the House. But, before it could get up to the full House for a vote, it had to be approved by the Ways and Means Committee where Democrats outnumber Republicans 15 to 10.

This meant certain approval if the Democrats stuck together. They didn't. What goes on in such a committee—this one is headed by Rep. Wilbur Mills, Arkansas Democrat—is supposedly secret.

But the bill never got approved. Five of the 15 Democrats reportedly joined the 10 Republicans to bottle up the medical care bill and prevent its getting to a vote in the full House. Mills was against it.

The Democrats in the House—where they outnumber the Republicans 261 to 174—could have used a well-known and often-used device to wrench the bill out of the committee so it could be voted on.

That was to get up a petition to bring it to the floor. Such a petition would have needed the signature of 219 of the 261 Democrats, plus any Republicans who wanted to sign. Such a petition was not tried.

Why? The answer seems simple. The Democratic leadership didn't think it could get enough signatures. The fact that there was no petition looks like something less than Democratic fervor for the medical care bill.

And there is no public evidence that Kennedy put any heat on Mills to make him change his position or on any of the other committee Democrats who, like Mills, opposed the Kennedy-sponsored program.

On the Senate side the bill ordinarily would have gone to the Finance Committee whose chairman, Harry Byrd of Virginia, has been giving Kennedy a bad time on other proposals, like tax revision and tax reduction.

But the Democratic leadership, to bypass Byrd, tied the medical care bill to another piece of legislation and thus got it up on the Senate floor for a vote.

This was a much weaker bill than the one Mills' committee had bottled up. It was heavily compromised for those who didn't like the other one. Finally the vote came in the Senate where Democrats outnumber Republicans 64 to 36.

This was the vote: 52 to 48 against the bill. Voting for it were 43 Democrats and 5 Republicans. Teaming up to kill it were 21 Democrats who joined 31 Republicans.

Yet, even if the vote had been the other way, the whole business was pretty much an empty gesture. The reason: there was practically no chance for the bill on the House side to get out of Mills' committee for a vote.

What it adds up to is a lot of waltzing to political music.

CINCINNATI (AP)—Common Pleas Court Judge Louis J. Schneider ruled Thursday that a dispute involving control of assets and records of four Cincinnati locals that revolted against the Teamsters Union must be heard in court.

The four rebel locals are the Cab Drivers Local 954; Soft Drink and Brewery Workers Local 152; Funeral Livery Drivers Local 793 and the Dairy Drivers Local. They split with the Teamsters last Aug. 16, and both claimed the records and union money.

City Teamster Dispute To Be Heard in Court

CINCINNATI (AP)—Common Pleas Court Judge Louis J. Schneider ruled Thursday that a dispute involving control of assets and records of four Cincinnati locals that revolted against the Teamsters Union must be heard in court.

The four rebel locals are the Cab Drivers Local 954; Soft Drink and Brewery Workers Local 152; Funeral Livery Drivers Local 793 and the Dairy Drivers Local. They split with the Teamsters last Aug. 16, and both claimed the records and union money.

Bryant Resigns Cage Position At Hillsboro

Tom Bryant, head basketball coach at Hillsboro High School for the last three years, has resigned to accept a coaching job at Cole-rain High School near Cincinnati.

Bryant a former cage coach at Walnut High School in Pickaway County, is a graduate of Chillicothe High School and Miami University at Oxford.

His teams at Hillsboro finished fifth, second and third in the South Central Ohio League during his three-year tenure there.

No successor has been named for Bryant, but apparently in line for the post is James Saunders of Lebanon, who the Hillsboro Board of Education hired as a coach recently. Saunders' specific assignment has not been announced.

A second coach, Lawrence Pummell, of Wilmington, was also hired by the board.

Saunders, a 1958 graduate of Lebanon High School, will receive his degree from Ohio Northern University in August. He played football and basketball in college.

Pummell, a graduate of Wilmington College, has been head basketball coach at Harveysburg High School for the past six years.

9-6 Win Gives Jewelers 3rd Round Title

GE Trips Kiwanis
In 9-8 Tilt; Bass
Whiffs 17 Batters

L. M. Butch wrapped up the third round championship in the Babe Ruth Majors with a 9-6 victory over DuPont.

The Jewelers have a third round mark of 4-0 with one game to play. All of the other teams have lost at least two third round contests. The Butch unit now owns a season mark of 7-7 and DuPont stands at 10-3.

The other games, General Electric edged Kiwanis, 9-8, and Ashville No. 1 won by a forfeit, over Lindsey Bakery in a game scheduled at Ashville.

George Ramey paced the Jewelers with two hits and three runs scored. Jerry Cupp, winning hurler, scored two runs and socked two singles. Phil Smith and Jim Starkey each scored two runs.

BILL Strehle and Jim Diltz each hit two singles for DuPont.

Cupp struck out 12 in seven innings and walked only one, in pitching his six hitter.

Dave Bass, GE pitcher, and Gary Stewart were the big guns for GE with four hits each. Mike Tomlinson rapped three bingles and Daryl Bass banged two.

Kiwanis garnered only five hits off the offerings of Bass. Dave Green and Jeff Ankrom each connected for two singles.

Bass struck out 17 and walked 12 in nine innings.

Viking Wins $105,422 Trot Easily

YONKERS, N.Y. (AP) — A.C.'s Viking has served notice he is going to be mighty tough to beat for the 3-year-old trotting championship in harness racing this year.

The Viking, scoring his sixth victory in seven starts this year, easily won the $105,422 Yonkers Futurity at Yonkers Raceway Thursday night and in the process hung it on Sprite Rodney, the flashy filly from the Eaton Ridge Farm of Thomas J. and Melvin Eaton of Norwich, N.Y.

Three-quarters of a length separated the pair at the end of the 1-16 miles with the clocking of 2:10.45 only one-fifth of a second off the track record. Isaac was another 2 1/2 lengths back for third place in the field of nine. The winner paid $3.70, $2.70 and $2.50. "Best horse I ever have driven," said 62-year-old Sanders Russell after returning to the winner's circle. "His next start will be at Brandywine Raceway July 23 and then the Hambletonian."

The Hambletonian will be trotted at Du Quoin, Ill., Aug. 29. With the Yonkers Futurity and the Kentucky Futurity, Oct. 5 it comprises the triple crown for 3-year-old trotters.

Redlegs, Giants, Cardinals Win TV League Tilts

The Redlegs, Giants and Cardinals collected wins in the fourth week of play in the Teays Valley Little League. Several makeup games are scheduled for this weekend to complete the first round of play according to Herb Pettibone, statistician for the league.

Behind the 3-hit pitching of Chet Gloyd, the undefeated Redlegs rolled into the Teays Valley Little League lead by beating the previously undefeated Yankees 8 to 1. Gloyd put on a tremendous pitching performance by striking out 15 and walking only two.

The Gregg brothers, Van and Rex paced the Redleg hitting attack with perfect 3 for 3 roles at the plate, with each belting a two-run homer.

Ronnie Lambert, hard hitting Yankee first baseman, poled a solo shot in the first for the Yankees' only run. After Lambert's first inning homer, Gloyd shut the door the rest of the way permitting only two harmless singles.

Excellent defensive plays were made by Yankee third baseman Dale Lambert and Redleg shortstop Bill Hall. Gloyd picked up the win, his 4th against no defeats, while Bob Cook was charged with the loss, his first against 3 wins. The win assured the Redlegs of at least a first round tie for the championship.

The Giants exploded for 17 runs in the last three innings to come from behind and deal the Dodgers a resounding 21-7 defeat. The league's leading hitter Gene Neff again paced his team's attack by rapping out 5 straight hits, including a bases loaded triple.

Neff now has an astronomical average of .929, with 13 hits out of 14 trips to the plate.

Neff was aided by five teammates, who each had 3 hits apiece. They were Schiff, J. Felty, Costlow, Taylor and D. Felty.

Clay Taylor went the distance to pick up the win, his first against no defeats. Don Stir was charged with the loss, his third against no wins.

Jim Deal and Don Stir paced the Dodgers' hitting attack with a pair of hits apiece. Bill Welsh rapped out a first inning two run homer for the losers.

The Giants became the second team in the league to play errorless ball.

The Cardinals spotted the Indians an 8 to 2 lead and came from behind to win in extra innings 9 to 8.

Bruce Roesse's shut out relief pitching and Mike Lombardi's bat spelled the difference. Lombardi poled a grand slam homer in the fourth inning along with a game winning double to pace the Cards attack.

Bruce Roesse held the Indians hitless over the last 4 innings. Roesse picked up the win, his second, while Tom Pickering was charged with the loss, his second against no wins.

Golfing and Fishing

WASHINGTON, D. C. (AP) — Baseball's All-Star games mean off time for the players and coaches on the sidelines. Cleve Boyer and Bill Stafford of the Yankees took a three-day vacation for some golf in upstate New York. Kansas City pitching coach Ed Lopat took his son fishing in the Ozarks.

no wins. Wayne Brown paced the Indians hitting with a pair of singles.

The Giants defeated the Cardinals 9-5, completing a 5-5 tie game called because of darkness in earlier Teays Valley little league action.

Gene Neff hit a grand slam homerun to win the game. Taylor was the winner and Dixon was charged with the loss.

The standings in the league are as follows.

Protested Tilt Won by Oilers

3rd National Bank,
Coke Earn Victories

Circleville Oil downed The Second National Bank 21-6 in, Little League minor action yesterday, but the manager of the Bankers protested the game in the first inning.

The manager of the Second team based his protest on what he contended was an illegal decision by the umpire on a play at home.

The Oilers touched the Second National pitcher for 22 hits in the game. Dave Ogan, Steve Richardson, Walter Jenkins and Kevin Miller had four hits each for the winners.

The Second played with only eight men.

Officials of the Circleville Youth Baseball Program has not announced if the protest will be allowed.

In other little league action, the Third National Bank downed the Savings Bank, 30-12, in the minors and Coca Cola remained undefeated in the majors with a 16-0 win over the American Legion.

R. Amann, Third first sacker, belted two doubles and singled twice to pace the winners. He scored five runs.

Ty Ankrom fed the losers with a homerun, a double and two singles in four official at bats.

Cook Insurance Regains ML Lead

The Lewis Cook Insurance nine regained a slight edge in the Mosquito League yesterday with an 8-1 win over Hill Implement.

The victory gave the Insurance-men a season record of nine wins and two losses to put them one half a game ahead of the Ankrom Lumber team. Ankrom's has a record of eight victories and two defeats.

The loss dumped the Implement team into fifth place in the league, just behind Mac's Goodyear. The Implement crew has an overall 4-7 record compared to a 4-6 slate for the Goodyear team.

Three members of Michigan State's four-man national championship freestyle swimming relay team, Jeff Mattson, Bill Wood and Mike Wood, will return for competition in 1963.

Cardinal Mindszenty Still Is U.S. Guest in Budapest

BUDAPEST (AP)—Twenty-four American children, faces smeared with warpaint and cake crumbs, streamed out of the American legation in Budapest after a costume party.

They were surrounded immediately by Hungarian secret police. Could one of the boys be Jozsef Cardinal Mindszenty in disguise?

The police weren't taking any chances. Hurriedly summoned as the party began, the police scrutinized every small, jabbering face, and one by one let the children pass into Budapest's Liberty Square.

The Roman Catholic primate of Hungary was not among them. He still was inside the legation, where he sought refuge 5½ years ago, after the Hungarian revolution.

Ever since, Mindszenty has lived in two rooms on the third floor of the five-story corner building in the center of Budapest.

The cardinal is likely to remain there until Hungary's Communist regime gives assurances for his safety and resumption of his post as head of the church in Hungary—which it may never do.

Hungarian Premier Frenco Muenich says he is satisfied to leave Mindszenty in the legation "until he dies."

For the regime, Mindszenty's voluntary confinement is a blessing in disguise. It means Mindszenty does not have to be publicly tried and imprisoned in a country which still is ardently Catholic.

This may be one of the reasons for the day and night details of police guarding the gray, steel-shuttered legation. The Communists seem more anxious to keep him inside than to arrest him.

Meanwhile, Mindszenty's life—he is 70—is bound up inextricably with the lives of the 18 U.S. State Department and military personnel and their families who live in Budapest and are headed by Charge d'Affaires Horace G. Torbert of Washington, D.C.

Legation personnel are subjected to spot surveillance by police. They cannot move more than 25 miles around Budapest without filing their exact movements two days in advance. They are limited in their contacts with Hungarians and, except in small ways, cannot put across the American story to a nation still highly pro-American.

Mindszenty is in excellent health and mentally alert. But he can have no Hungarian visitors. If the legation let them in, it could be accused of allowing Mindszenty to organize political or religious resistance to the regime.

Cardington Berkshire Entries Are Honored

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Harold Yake of Cardington, Ohio, showed the reserve champions in the carcass and barrow classes Thursday at the National Type Conference of the American Berkshire Association.

Winter temperatures in Iceland are similar to those of New York City due to the Gulf Stream that warms the waters of the Island in the north Atlantic.

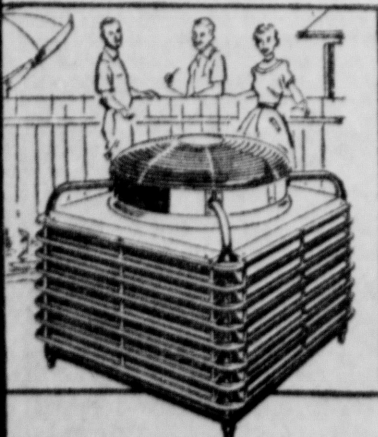

CLOSING NIGHT FEATURE — Kirk Douglas is seen here in "Lonely Are the Brave," the last movie to be shown at the Grand Theater. The heater closes tomorrow night and work will begin on the $50,000 improvement of the Cliftona Theater. Completing the double featured program is Billy Wilder's "One, Two, Three," starring James Cagney and Arlene Francis.

Cardinal Mindszenty Still Is U.S. Guest in Budapest

BUDAPEST (AP)—Twenty-four American children, faces smeared with warpaint and cake crumbs, streamed out of the American legation in Budapest after a costume party.

They were surrounded immediately by Hungarian secret police. Could one of the boys be Josef Cardinal Mindszenty in disguise?

The police weren't taking any chances. Hurriedly summoned as the party began, the police scrutinized every small, jabbering face, and one by one let the children pass into Budapest's Liberty Square.

The Roman Catholic primate of Hungary was not among them. He still was inside the legation, where he sought refuge 5½ years ago, after the Hungarian revolution.

Ever since, Mindszenty has lived in two rooms on the third floor of the five-story corner building in the center of Budapest.

The cardinal is likely to remain there until Hungary's Communist regime gives assurances for his safety and resumption of his post as head of the church in Hungary—which it may never do.

Hungarian Premier Frenk Muenich says he is satisfied to leave Mindszenty in the legation "until he dies."

For the regime, Mindszenty's voluntary confinement is a blessing in disguise. It means Mindszenty does not have to be publicly tried and imprisoned in a country which still is ardently Catholic.

This may be one of the reasons for the day and night details of police guarding the gray, steel-shuttered legation. The Communists seem more anxious to keep him inside than to arrest him.

Meanwhile, Mindszenty's life—he is 70—is bound up inextricably with the lives of the 18 U.S. State Department and military personnel and their families who live in Budapest and are headed by Charge d'Affaires Horace G. Torbert of Washington, D.C.

Legation personnel are subjected to spot surveillance by police. They cannot move more than 25 miles around Budapest without filing their exact movements two days in advance. They are limited in their contacts with Hungarians and, except in small ways, cannot put across the American story to a nation still highly pro-American.

Mindszenty is in excellent health and mentally alert. But he can have no Hungarian visitors. If the legation let them in, it could be accused of allowing Mindszenty to organize political or religious resistance to the regime.

Cardington Berkshire Entries Are Honored

HARRISBURG, Pa. (AP)—Harold Yake of Cardington, Ohio, showed the reserve champions in the carcass and barrow classes Thursday at the National Type Conference of the American Berkshire Association.

Winter temperatures in Iceland are similar to those of New York City due to the Gulf Stream that warms the waters of the Island in the north Atlantic.

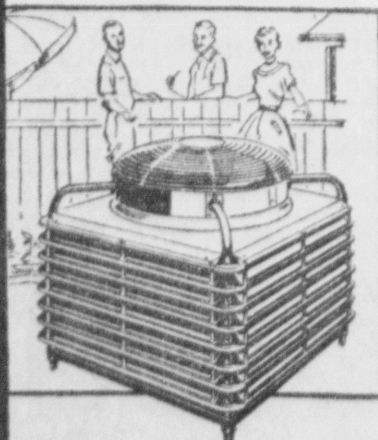

CLOSING NIGHT FEATURE — Kirk Douglas is seen here in "Lonely Are the Brave," the last movie to be shown at the Grand Theater. The theater closes tomorrow night and work will begin on the $50,000 improvement of the Cliftona Theater. Completing the double featured program is Billy Wilder's "One, Two, Three," starring James Cagney and Arlene Francis.
